featured region: galicia, spain

galicia, in northwest spain, has been gaining notoriety in the wine world due to the popularity of albariño from the rias baixas d.o. (denominación de origen). there are five total d.o. in galicia, all of which are represented in this month's flights. white wines are more prevalent than red in galicia. other popular whites varietals are godello (aka: verdelho) and the native treixadura; the main red grape is mencia.
